1

CALMING & SLEEP

Balloon Belly

Belly breathing for calm

1. Put both hands on your belly. Feel it rise and fall like a balloon.
2. Breathe in through your nose slowly for 4 counts. Feel your belly push your hands out — the balloon is filling up!
3. Breathe out through your mouth slowly for 6 counts. The balloon is gently deflating.
4. Repeat 5 times. Each time, try to make your out-breath a little longer than your in-breath.

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: You feel worried, can't fall asleep, or need your body to slow down.

Little Roots Project

2

CALMING & SLEEP

Snake Breath

The long, slow hiss

1. Sit up tall like a snake rising out of a basket.
2. Take a deep breath in through your nose for 3 counts. Fill up all the way.
3. Breathe out making a "ssssssss" sound — like a snake! Make it last as long as you can. Try for 8 counts.
4. Repeat 4 times. Try to make each hiss longer than the last. Can you get to 10 counts?

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: Your body feels buzzy or restless and you need to wind down.

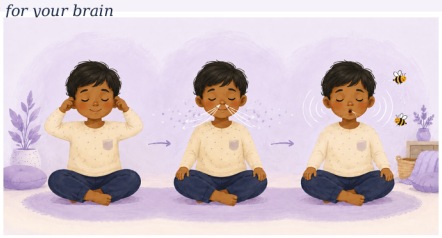

Little Roots Project

3

FOCUS & ATTENTION

Bumble Bee Buzz

Humming for your brain

1. Close your eyes and gently place your fingertips over your ears.
2. Take a big breath in through your nose.
3. Breathe out and hum "mmmmm" — like a bumble bee buzzing! Feel the hum vibrate in your head and chest.
4. Repeat 5 times. Notice how each buzz makes your whole body feel tingly and focused.

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: You need to concentrate, or your brain feels scattered and noisy.

Little Roots Project

4

FOCUS & ATTENTION

Star Breathing

Trace, breathe, repeat

1. Hold up one hand with your fingers spread out like a star.
2. With your other pointer finger, start at the bottom of your thumb. Trace UP the outside — breathe in. Trace DOWN the inside — breathe out.
3. Keep going across all 5 fingers. Up = breathe in. Down = breathe out. That's 5 full breaths.
4. Switch hands and do it again if you want 10 breaths. Slow and steady wins.

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: You're about to take a test, start something new, or feel nervous.

Little Roots Project

5

BIG EMOTIONS

Dragon Fire

Let it out, then let it go

1. Stand up and plant your feet. You're a dragon. Feel your feet on the ground.
2. Take the biggest breath in you can — through your nose. Fill up your whole body. Raise your arms up like wings.
3. Open your mouth wide and BREATHE OUT hard — like a dragon breathing fire! Drop your arms down as you do.
4. Do 3 big dragon breaths. Then finish with one slow, quiet Balloon Belly breath to cool down.

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: You feel really angry, frustrated, or like you might explode.

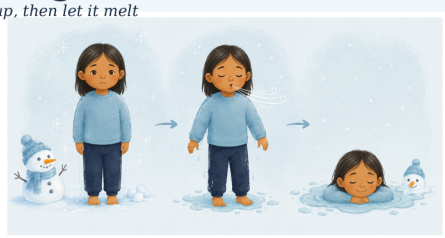

Little Roots Project

6

ENERGY & ACTIVATION

Melting Snowman

Tense it up, then let it melt

1. Stand up straight and stiff like a frozen snowman. Squeeze every muscle tight — fists, shoulders, legs, face. Hold for 5 seconds.
2. Now the sun comes out. Slowly start to melt. Let your shoulders drop first. Then your arms. Breathe out the whole time.
3. Keep melting all the way down — your back, your knees — until you're a puddle on the floor. Breathe out the whole time.
4. Stay in your puddle for 3 breaths. Feel how different your body feels now — soft, warm, loose. Then slowly rebuild your snowman.

Little Roots Foundation

littlerootsfoundation.org

Try this when: Your body feels frozen, stiff, or shut down. When you feel stuck or low energy.

Little Roots Project